DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Election filed on August 12, 2002.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 7-13 in Paper No. 6 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-6 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 6.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, "the plurality of convex regions left in the pad part" must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 7-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Independent claim 7 and some of the claims include the limitation of "convex regions" in the pad part. Claim 7 also included the limitation that "a recess area ratio in a near wiring area superposed upon an extended area of the wiring part into the pad part within a first frame area,... becomes larger than a recess area ratio in a second frame area...and having a second width." Although specification mentions those limitations in the "SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION," the specification does not adequately explain what the convex regions are or discuss the recess area ratio. The drawings also do not show the convex regions. They only show planar portions of the pads. For this reason the examiner has no idea what those limitations mean or what the intended novelty of the invention is.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 11 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 11 recites the limitation "the via hole" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 7-13, as far as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Harada et al. (US 6,417,575 B2).

Harada et al. shows (figs. 3 and 4) a semiconductor device comprising a semiconductor substrate (1), a first interlayer insulating film (7) made of insulating material on the substrate, and a first intra-layer insulating film (11) having a recess reaching the bottom of the first intra-insulating film. The recess has a pad part (portion of 14 in layer 11c) and a wiring part (portion 12 in layer 11a) continuous with the pad part. The pad part has a width wider than a width of the wiring part. A first pad is filled in the pad part of the recess and a wiring is filled in the wiring part of the recess. A second interlayer insulating film (15) is formed on the first intra-layer insulating film, the first pad and the wiring. The second interlayer insulating film is formed with at least one via hole (16), the via hole being superimposed upon the first pad. A second pad (100) is formed on the second interlayer insulating film and is connected to the first pad via a region in the via hole. The via holes are included in the first pad. A conductive wire

Art Unit: 2815

(105 in fig. 4) is wire-bonded to the second pad. A contact area between the conductive wire and the second pad extends to an area on an outer side of via hole.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tanaka (US 6,100,589), Yamaha (US 6,297,563 B1), and Anand (US 6,362,528 B2) also show semiconductor devices having wiring pad portions formed in an intra-insulating layer.
